HENNING PETERS, late of the Eden Brewery, is now prepared to supply the trade and families with all kinds of Beer, Ale and Porter.

The Brewery is situated on Spring Ridge, and is built over a well of pure, ever running spring water. This fact enables me to manufacture the very finest lagerbeer, equal to any imported Ale, Beer and Porter.

The machinery used is of latest pattern, the ingredients are pure water, malt and hops, and a trial is only necessary to convince that the brands are the finest manufactured in the Province.

All orders for city supply, or for shipment to Island or Mainland points will receive prompt attention and a superior article guaranteed.

ON THE WING EASTWARD

Progress of Construction on Mr. Onderdonk's Syndicate Contract from Savona Eastwards.

Character of the Country—Big Work in Track-laying—An Ingenious Machine.

(From our own Correspondent.)

LITTLE SHUSWAP LAKE, Aug. 17, 1885.

The contract taken from the syndicate by Mr. Onderdonk for the construction of that portion of the C. P. R. lying between Savona, the end of the government contract, and Griffin Lake, a distance of 138 miles, is rapidly progressing towards completion; should no delay occur in receiving shipments of the rails now on the way it is expected that the rails will be laid to within fifteen miles of Griffin Lake by the 10th of September. The rails are now laid to a point about 30 miles east of Kamloops or leaving but 60 miles yet to be laid. The grading, though not all finished, is practically done and will be entirely completed by the 20th inst. The tracklayers therefore cannot overtake the graders. The rails now on the way will be insufficient to lay the entire 138 miles, leaving about 15 miles short. This fifteen miles will therefore be laid from the east end. On the first day of track-laying east of Kamloops four miles of track were laid, this being probably the best day's work yet made West of the Rocky Mountains. From Kamloops east the average of track laid has been

SEVENTY-EIGHT MILES EAST OF SAVONA,

3½ MILES PER DAY.

From here until the summit is reached about 2½ miles per day will be laid. For ten miles east of this place a very heavy grade is met with, being 500 feet in the ten miles or 50 feet to the mile. The grading has all been done by sub-contract, but the tracklaying by Mr. Onderdonk's men.

ON A CONSTRUCTION TRAIN.

Boarding a construction train at Savona's, and taking a seat on the soft side of a rail your correspondent was prepared for a tour of inspection. The road from Savona to Kamloops is not yet open for traffic, being but partially ballasted and it is no soft snap to ride over it on a construction train. Following the south shore of Lake Kamloops, through a country consisting for the most part of low sand hills, covered with sage brush, and having an alkaline appearance for 11 miles, we reach Cherry Creek. The country further back from the Lake is famous for its bunch grass and has many fine stock ranches. For this distance the work has been principally earth cuts and fills with no rock cuts, this being easily built. After Cherry Creek is passed, however, the character of the work changes, the rock cuttings are very heavy and the trestle work extensive while as there are six tunnels so close together that they almost connect. From Kamloops the road follows the south fork of the Thompson river, through a valley so level that it has much the appearance of a prairie country. Some of this land is alkali land, but much of it is remarkably fine farming land and most of it, if irrigated, would produce luxuriant crops. Thirteen miles from Kamloops is the old established ranch of Messrs. Duck & Pringle, and 11 miles further on the ranch of both of them as fine ranches as can be found any where. At Marian's tie spur, twenty-four miles from Kamloops, is the camp of Mr. J. K. Godfrey, the contractor for furnishing the road with ties from Savona to Saleshouse Narrows. Mr. Godfrey's contract is for 300,000 ties, all of which were got out last winter on the Shuswap Lakes and rafted down the river. The logs are cut and squared in the woods and rafted down to the spar where they are cut into tie lengths and loaded on the cars by which saves an enormous amount of labor. This machine consists of a scow with a circular saw attachment so arranged as to drop on the log in the water whenever it is required to be sawed. The tie is then seized with a pike pole and shoved upon an inclined plane with an endless chain running around it, which carries the tie upward until the end of the plane is reached, which is immediately over the car being loaded. Here the tie is delivered to two loaders, who place it in position on the car. When the car is loaded it is dropped down grade by releasing the brake and another car dropped down to take its place. The machine is kept running night and day two gangs of men taking six hours shifts. Sixteen men are required to run the machine and load the ties. As a labor saver the machine is an immense success. By actual time the machine cut and loaded a car of 300 ties in exactly four seconds less than twenty minutes, this being at the rate of about 20,000 TIES PER DAY.

WE APPROACH KAMLOOPS

MR. C. S. MARTIN, M. P. P.,

AN INGENIOUS MACHINE

Mr. Gus Wright has the contract for supplying the ties from Sicamouse Narrows to Griffin Lake, the number required being about 90,000. The country from here through to Little Shuswap is of about the same even character and a remarkably easy country through which to build a railroad. There is but one rock cut from Kamloops to Little Shuswap. As we near the lake we pass the ranches of Messrs. McBryan, Williams and Chase. They are on the bank of the river, and their owners may feel justly proud of their domains, which are fit for a king. At Little Shuswap the work of Major Rogers commences, and the work from there on to Griffin Lake is of a much harder character, following the bases and sides of the mountains to Eagle Pass, and from there on a distance of thirty miles to Griffin Lake.

BEAUTIFUL LEVEL PRAIRIE MEADOWS,

AT SICHAMOUSE NARROWS

a pile bridge 800 feet long, with a 200 foot draw is being erected. The piles have all been driven, and the bridge will soon be ready for the track layers. Probably the most important part of this work is the forwarding and transporting of supplies to the front. This work is under the supervision of Mr. J. J. Mahlalt, to whose energy in rushing things to the front may be attributed much of the progress already made.

"Our Boys" in Portland.

The match between the Amities and Portlands on Saturday attracted a crowd of over one thousand spectators. A great deal of interest was manifested in the game throughout, and for some days previous nothing but base ball was talked in Portland. The respective nines played in the following positions:

AMITIES.	POSITION.	PORTLANDS.
Northwick	Pitcher	Glendenning
Wootton	Catcher	Timmons
N. Gowan	Short Stop	Bachtel
Kuns	First Base	Brandt
Barnes	Second Base	Geis
G. Gowen	Third Base	McGuire
Russell	Center Field	Drown
Stolley	Right Field	Connolly

Adverting to the game the Oregonian says: Our English cousins were outbatted yesterday. Every hit by the Portlands came in opportunely, and though errors by the home club were more numerous than those of the visitors, they were not so costly. In the eighth inning the Portlands "collared" Northwick's pitching for three earned runs. And they ran bases better. It would be hard to pick out five better runners than Coulter, Bachtel, Brandt, Brown and Edwards. Timmons's excellent throwing to second made the visitors timid, but he couldn't get a ball within twenty feet of the third baseman, and the three errors scored against him are for wild throws. He astonished himself and his friends by making a single and two-bagger when they were needed. He also took four foul tips direct from the bat. Brandt made two two-baggers and one three-base hit—the only one made on the new grounds. Geis played second in fine style and seems to have learned to bat while he was gone. Brilliant plays by the visitors were catches by G. Gowen and Russell after long runs. Kuns's work at first base was first rate. They are a fine lot of young men, and if they had had their regular pitcher the score, no doubt, would have been different. Ford umpired the game very well. Following is the score:

SUNDAY'S GAMES.

The Oregonian adds: The fact is, the nine from Victoria, as constituted yesterday, is no match for the Portlands. By consent of the home club, Tierney of the Stars and Geis of the Portlands will be the battery for the visitors to-morrow. Now, if Tierney will only give the catcher signals as to whether he is going to pitch an in or an out curve, an up or a down shoot, it will be just like "tossing heads or tails," to guess which side will win.

The second game was played yesterday and resulted in a victory for the Victoria team of 11 to 10, with one innings to spare. This gives the victory to the Amities, our boys having won two out of three games this season. They are consequently entitled to the championship of the Northwest. Well done, Amities.

Wreck of the Haddingtonshire.

The following additional particulars are to hand of the wreck of the bark Haddingtonshire off Point Reyes on Friday night last. She went ashore on the beach about 2½ miles north of Point Reyes light. The sea was breaking heavily, causing the vessel to ground with tremendous force. She was a total wreck almost from the moment she struck, as a few minutes later she parted amidships. The officers and crew took to the water, and although the distance to the shore was not more than 250 yards, only the one man and the boy spoken of reached it alive. The captain and his remaining comrades must have been dashed to pieces against the sides of the vessel or drowned. The weather was so thick that it was impossible to discern anything a few yards off, and as the captain had lost his chronometer in a storm near the equator, he could not have had the least idea of his situation or of his close proximity to land. The saved seaman and the boy succeeded in reaching a house near the point, where they were this morning, but so utterly shattered and prostrated as to be unable to render any account of the immediate cause of the disaster. Large quantities of canned salmon in cases are being washed ashore. There are hopes that a good portion of this part of the cargo can be saved.

The owners of the vessel are Messrs. T. Low & Co. of Glasgow and not J. A. Shepherd as before announced. The same firm has lost two other vessels in the Columbia river trade during the past two years, namely the Roxburyshire and the Perthshire. The former was an iron vessel of 2088 tons, built in 1876 by Mr. Dobie. She sailed from Astoria in October, 1883, with a cargo of 1465 tons of wheat, and was never heard from. The insurance on ship and freight amounted to $90,000. The Perthshire was an iron bark, built by Thrown of Dunce in 1874. She sailed from the Columbia river on February 8, 1885, with 400 tons of wheat valued at $10,000, 200 tons of flour valued at $2000, and about 400 tons of salmon worth nearly $60,000, and was lost off the Falkland Islands, although there was a small salvage. The underwriters by this firm have lost during the last two years nearly $250,000.

Practice vs. Precept.

Says the Whatcom Reveille: The white laundry at Victoria has clipped the golden stair. This was probably owing to the fact that the 10,000 people in Victoria who are continually discounting the Chinese, either wear their linen unwashed or have the work done at Chinese laundries.

SUPREME COURT.

On application for an injunction to restrain the granting of water to parties outside the city limits, the examination of Mr. Russell, water commissioner, was continued, specially with regard to the number of persons supplied with water from Fort street main and to James Bay. On Fort street, the total number of persons between Government street and the city boundary, including bakers, brewers, washermen and public schools, receiving water is 131 and the amount paid monthly by them is $213. These were divided into two classes—those receiving a good supply and those only indifferently served. Between Government and Cook streets, 95 parties were believed to have a good supply, paying monthly therefor $162.50, and east of Cook street, 36 received an indifferent quantity, paying $50.50 monthly. In James Bay, the total number of persons supplied, including the government buildings, is 92, who paid monthly $160.50. Eight persons, in that section, received an indifferent supply, paying $14 monthly.

The argument of counsel—Messrs. Davie and Yates—was postponed until to-morrow.

Capt. Morrison succeeded Humphrey in command of the Oracle.

Burned to Death.

Special to THE TIMES.

LONDON, Aug. 23.—There was a fatal fire to-day at Haxeiou, a poor and crowded quarter of London. Owing to lack of room it was impossible for the firemen to work effectively. There was a terrible scene when a lodging house took fire, and in spite of gallant efforts to rescue the inmates, a man and two children were burned to death.

The Modified Tariff.

BERLIN, Aug. 24.—The Telegraph conference at plenary meeting yesterday almost unanimously confirmed the modified tariff proposition, four delegates abstaining from voting.

Delaware Silenced.

Special to THE TIMES.

PARIS, Aug. 23.—The Silence of Gen. DeCourcy, French commander in Anam, is supposed to be due to his visiting towns in Tonquin.

A Collision Underground.

Special to THE TIMES.

LONDON, Aug. 23.—A terrible collision occurred this evening on the Metropolitan District Underground Railway at Earles Court. The signal had broken and become unmanageable, and two trains collided, engine against engine. One engineer was killed, and a stoker and five others were so badly injured that they can't recover. There was a terrible scene when the collision occurred, as the railroad at that point is underground.

Creamery vs. Dairy.

The superiority of the creamery system over the usual farm dairy was pointed out by a farmer at a late meeting of the Iowa Improved Stock Breeders' Association. He spoke as follows of the advantage to the farmers' wives: "For thirty years our farmers' wives have been endeavoring to solve this problem, and for thirty years they have failed. Their have toiled and drudged at the churn, and the price of the butter doled out in trade at the country store has not paid for the toil and drudgery. Still, woman's toil proved two things: that a calf raised by hand is as good at a year old as a calf that has followed its dam; and, second, that the runty pig, which would have died on corn and water alone, swelled out to ample proportions when fed with milk. And therefore the shrewed farmer saw that milk must be had for the pig; that the cow must in some way be the centre of his system; that the pig and the calf must be raised, and that the bondage of the wife to the churn must be broken. Hence the unusual favor which the creamery has met in the state wherever railroads have rendered creameries possible. The creameries take away half the drudgery of the farmer's wife. What this drudgery has been, let the women of Iowa tell. But while it removes the drudgery it retains the income—the monthly income—not in store accounts, but creamery cheques, good as gold, and the best part of it is that the income is derived from that part of the milk that the farmer can most readily spare. It is a fact generally known that in the formation of a bone and muscle, skim milk, buttermilk, and whole milk are practically the same. This monthly income is, therefore, practically clear gain. Having thus received one profit from this cow—a profit fully converting the cost of her yearly keep and interest on the investment—he has in the calf a cheap and available package in which to condense his grass and hay, straw and cornstalk, for shipment to the markets in the world. But if the creamery blesses the farmer's wife in relieving her from the bondage of the churn, it confers an equal blessing on the farmer in prying him out of the ruts and compelling him to think. For he now must needs study how to get all the cream from the milk; how to feed his stock to the best advantage, and raising higher he is, before he is aware, balancing in his mind the merits of rival breeds, and different systems of management; in a word he begins to acquire an education which, though not recognized by the schools, will go further in fitting him for the business of life than much that has favored recognition."

A Ruined Man.

A special from London says the Pearce scandal will probably result in an action for libel against the Pall Mall Gazette. After the first publication of the news Pearce came to the Pall Mall Gazette office and said: "I am a ruined man. Two hours ago I could lift up my head in this city. I cannot now." Underhead Pearce offered notes as security for the girl. He promises not to attend any meeting of the royal commission on the depression of trade if the matter is allowed to drop, but the Pall Mall Gazette threatened to expose him unless he resigned his seat on the commission at once. Pearce replied with a threat of prosecution for libel if any further reference to the subject was made. Pearce is said to have kept this girl in a lunatic asylum. She is 25 years old. Her father, Francis, holds a high position in the custom office at Glasgow. During the recent dynamite scare he was chief of the staff of examining officers for Clyde.

A Disappointing Exhibition.

The exhibition of the "manly art of self defence," on Saturday night, at Philharmonic hall, was a failure. Dateley was too much scientifically and physically, for Palmer, who suffered under the disadvantage of distance, superintened by too liberal potations. At the end of the fourth round, Supt. Bloomfield stopped the fight, and the audience, which about half filled the hall, retired disgusted. Exhibitions of this character are gradually falling into contempt among all classes, for the simple reason that when they are not long and brutal struggles they are first-class farces. Either of these extremes are objected to by a majority, and there would seem to be no half way between them to satisfy the public. Under any circumstance, prize-fighting or sparring exhibitions are disappointing, and they might with propriety be classed with the numerous other methods in vogue for obtaining money under false pretenses.

A BATTLEFORD special to the New York Times gives the surprising information that there are 200 Indians on the warpath between Battleford and Swift Current. H. REED and Indian Agent RAE are off to POUNDMAKER'S reserve with a mounted police force to take notes of the actual state of affairs.

In fire insurance there was an increase in the total amount insured of $23,243,748, and in life insurance of $11,250,851. During the year $9,608,148 was paid in premiums, $3,484,568 of which was received by purely Canadian companies, the remainder being divided between British and American offices.

IN 1880 the value of woolen and worsted goods manufactured in Bradford, England, amounted to £5,000,000 annually. At the present time the amount manufactured annually reaches £35,000,000. The goods exported from Bradford to the United States for the past twenty years amount in value to $227,000,000. The largest export in one year was in 1872 to the United States, when it reached $18,862,939, the lowest exportation was in 1878, being $5,205,149. Last year Bradford woolen goods to the value of $13,130,071 were sent to the Americans.

THE TRUE STORY OF BATOCHE

At a banquet given by the citizens of Ottawa on the 13th inst. to GEN. MIDDLETON and volunteers who had served in the Northwest, the General, in response to a toast, said he believed this opportunity a fitting one to take the public into his confidence and tell the true story of the battle of Batoche. He said the many discrepancies in the various accounts were more apparent than real. His description of the fight was in substance as follows: On the afternoon of the 12th he told COL. STRACHENZIE, his second in command, that he must make an advance movement. The Midlands were sent on the left, and next came the Grenadiers with the 90th a little in reserve. The Midlands had to form the outer part of the circle, and, therefore, were pushed, as it were a little forward, circling around. The lay of the land was such that it was impossible not only for one regiment to see the other, but almost for one man to see another. It was not what he would really call a charge. These regiments were forcing the enemy back by rushes in slow degrees out of their pits. The Midlands were circling around the rifle pits and the Grenadiers were pushing through. He (GENERAL MIDDLETON) was then bringing up the 90th and mounted troops who had dismounted, and thus completing a half circle of fire, in which he was enclosing Batoche. During the whole of the movement the men were obeying orders given them by their officers and the officers were all in their places leading their men as British officers always do. In that position they gradually forced their way from plains, where there was a general rush with a cheer that put quicksilver into the legs of the breeds and Indians. It was a general advance in which each man vied with his neighbor. As to the fact of one regiment being before another, they were all only in their proper positions, and simply doing gallantly as ordered. There was no hanging back, every man doing his duty, and although to each regiment it might appear as if they alone were driving the enemy, such was not the case. Having made the above statement very emphatically the General bestowed the highest praise on all the volunteers, and affirmed that at any time he would command them with as great confidence as regulars. He said he had within a few days received a second letter from GENERAL LORD WOLSELEY and one from the Duke of Cambridge, highly complimenting the volunteers for services rendered.

THE political campaign in England is the most interesting that country has witnessed since the repeal of the Corn Law agitation. Both parties are marshaling their hosts for a severe conflict. Already several prominent gentlemen have addressed large assemblages on the topics of the day. In a speech at Wimborne-minister LORD RANDOLPH CHURCHILL denied that he was actuated against EARL SPENCER and LORD RIPON by personal feeling. He assailed only their methods of governing. LORD RANDOLPH denounced the Radicals for wishing to tax the poor man's beer, which, he said, was food equally with bread. He defied the caucus arrangements of the Liberals, and said he believed the Tories would be victorious at the general elections. LORD RANDOLPH said he cared not a rap what the Daily News and the Standard said about him. Such criticism was as effective as water on a duck's back. He emphatically denied that the Conservatives wanted to tax the food of the people. He claimed for the Conservatives the passage of the Sea's Bill. LORD RANDOLPH taunted the Radicals with having no policy, while the Tories were carrying out a great one, having for its object the strengthening of the Empire at home and abroad. The Conservatives hoped to give peace to Ireland and security to India. They hoped to create an overpowering navy, which would be an adequate defence to the coasts of Great Britain and the colonies and to commerce. They believed they could bring about a revival of the trade and industries of the country. LORD RANDOLPH repudiated the charge that he desired war with Russia for the sake of securing votes at the election. The Standard entirely ignored his speech.

LETTERS from the Congo announce the death of two agents of the Congo Free State, the Marquis BUONFANTI and CASMAN, the chief of the equatorial station. BUONFANTI was a naturalized American and a member of the geographical societies of New York and Rome. The dispatch is silent as to the cause of their deaths, but there are rumors that they were due to disaster and not to disease. It is stated that the Marquis BUONFANTI is the Italian who several years ago became known in the United States under the name of MAURICE MAURIA, and who was an adroit swindler. He got into the employ of the International African association by perpetrating a hoax, passing himself off as an American traveler, and telling a remarkable story of his discoveries and travels. In New York City he had a brief but brilliant career as MAURICE MAURIA. By copying some of the best articles printed in Europe he made something of a literary reputation for himself, but eventually he was exposed. He then forged the signatures of some of New York's respectable citizens, obtained money in Baltimore and Boston under various pretenses, and fled to France to avoid arrest. KOSILOW CASMAN, a Belgian, entered the service at the end of 1883 and became the head of the equatorial station.

AT the banquet and presentation to several officers and men of the Sixty-fifth battalion, in Lachine, an unfortunate incident occurred. COLONEL DOSAT, in answering a toast in his honor, said that should RIEL be hanged, he and many other among the company would remember that his scaffold has been stained by the same pure blood as that which reddened the gallows after the rebellion of 1869.

On a kindred question raised by the British sugar refiners, LORD SALISBURY declined to adopt a retaliatory policy against foreign governments by which bounties are granted. He took the ground that "the country was committed to a policy which forbade the imposition of countervailing duties, and by that consequence the government cannot give the desired help unless the country changed its free trade policy." If the country should so will it, no shred of reciprocity would be adopted by the government. As for himself, the Premier said he could see no remedy. He hoped, however, that foreign countries would ultimately see their way to abolish duties altogether, and the British foreign office would do all in its power to induce them to do so." MR. GLADSTONE, when in power, admitted that the British sugar refiners had a grievance, and LORD SALISBURY scarcely does more.

MESSRS. NAPIER & SONS, Govan, have received orders from the Russian Government to construct engines of 12,000 indicated horse power for the steamer "Sinope," now under construction at Sebastopol. The engines were designed by N. C. KRAZ, who received a premium from the Russian Government. This Russian order will keep the NAPIERS employed for two years. Should war break out, the work would have to stop. In peace Great Britain supplies her possible enemies with the engines and implements of war. These are the largest engines for a war-ship ever undertaken, so that if they be completed Russia would have superior steamship power, if less of it, than Great Britain. The world is full of anomalies and this is one of them.

THE early completion of the Canadian Pacific railway and the commercial and military results likely to arise therefrom are attracting not a little attention on the continent of Europe. A recent number of the Berlin Military Gazette devotes an article to the military organization of Canada, whose troops the writer thinks may one day after the completion of the road play an important part in an English war. The article is descriptive, not critical, the writer merely remarking that the weak points of the system result from the peculiar conditions of the country, and that the recent campaign against the half-breeds will tend to hasten its development.

IT is announced that the Duke of Richmond has been appointed Secretary of State for Scotland, with a seat in the Cabinet. This office is created by the bill introduced by LORD ROSEBERY for the late government, and carried by him through its stages in the Upper House, after the change of administration, not—as the Marquis of SALISBURY explained—because of Conservative indifference, but because of the interest LORD ROSEBERY felt in the measure. The Duke of Richmond, to accept the Secretaryship for Scotland, will resign his Presidency of the Board of Trade. His Grace is 67 years of age, and has been in active political life since he won his seat for West Sussex in 1841.

SIR CHARLE DILKE has engaged CHARLES RUSSELL as leading counsel, and MR. SEARLE as junior, the plaintiff to file details to his case. The plaintiff's case has been strengthened by the evidence of a physician, who was called to SIR CHARLES DILKE'S house when MRS. CRAWFORD seemed to be sinking under prolonged hysteria arising from an altercation with the French woman. The Council of the Liberal Association is divided as to whether to ask SIR CHARLES DILKE to retire from public life until after the trial of the divorce case.

WITHIN the past seven years the make of iron had gone up 33 per cent, in the United Kingdom; in the case of coal, from 107,000,000 to 106,000,000 tons per annum; and in the case of tonnage built from tender, 2,000,000 to 3,000,000. Such instances of over-production could not but tell upon trade, and were in opposition to the laws of supply and demand.

Storystorm

[San Francisco Argonaut.]

Bismarck used to have three hairs on his bald head, but now he has done with brush and comb forever. He is the coolest-headed man in Europe; perhaps this accounts for it. A lady wrote to him for some personal memento. If it were "only a single hair," Bismarck scrawled on the bottom of the letter, "Impossible, madam; they are all three gone."

In the Bernese Oberland a parrot one day made its escape and perched on the rain-trough of a farmhouse in the neighborhood. The farmer brought a ladder to capture the strange animal. When he had reached the top, and was stretching out his hand, the parrot called out: "What do you want! What do you want!" The astonished peasant at once took off his cap and said: "Oh, I beg your pardon; I thought you were a bird!"

During the Franco-Prussian war Archbishop Guibert, who then resided at Tours, offered a home in his palace to M. Cremieux, the militant Hebrew lawyer, and his wife, and they gratefully accepted it. When the aspect of things was so far altered that M. Cremieux could return to Paris he took a most affectionate leave of his host, expressing the thanks of the "Jew" to the "good Christian," and saying: "Ah, monsignor, ours is the reconciliation of the Old and the New Testament. Henceforth they are one." "Pardon, M. Cremieux," replied the archbishop, "a clever lawyer like you should not forget that the last testament annuls all previous ones. Ours alone holds good."

A Scotch subaltern at Gibraltar was one day on guard with another officer, who unluckily fell down a precipice 400 feet and was killed. Non-military readers should understand that in the guard reports there is a small addendum, viz.: "N. B.—Nothing extraordinary since guard mounting." Our friend, however, said nothing about the accident, and some hours after the brigade major came to his quarters, on the part of the officer commanding, with the report in his hand, to demand an explanation. "You say, 'N. B.—Nothing extraordinary since guard mounting,' when your brother officer on duty has fallen down a precipice 400 feet and been killed." "Weel, sir," replied he, "I dinna think there's anything extraordinary in that; if he'd fa'n doon a precipice 400 feet and no been killed, I should ha' thought it very extraordinary indeed, and wad ha' put it doon in my report."

Things to Do and to Know.

Put a mulching around the roots of small fruit bushes this month.

Wheat reports grow worse and worse. It is hoped, however, that the wheat states of the Pacific slope may yet make up the shortage.

The seventeen year locusts are coming, as predicted by Prof. Riley, of the United States entomological department. They have already appeared near Bridgeport, Lawrence Co., Ills., and no doubt will soon be heard from all over the country. They do great injury to the trees sometimes by destroying the limbs in which they deposit their eggs.

About this time of year nothing is better to give food a relish than watercress. Wherever there is a perpetual water course it will grow. It forms a delicious addition to meats and other food by boiling a few minutes in water and salting lightly. Chopped cress spread thinly upon bread and butter is something else worth eating. No farm with running brooks should be without water cress. It grows from seed, or from roots or cuttings.

Locusts and Pestilence.

[London Standard.]

Again and again the various species of locusts have wrought dire havoc wherever their wanderings have taken them. Pestilence usually comes in the rear of all, and is aggravated, if not occasioned, by the effluvium from the decaying bodies of the dead cattle or of the insects which have been thrown into the sea and afterward cast up on shore by the waves and tide. A case is on record in which the stench from such a bank was carried 150 miles into the interior, and early in the christian era the hunger and plague combined which followed a visitation of locusts in north Africa caused the death of 800,000 persons. Four centuries ago, it is narrated on what seems fairly trustworthy data, that more than 200,000 persons perished within the bounds of the Venetian territory from the lack of food owing to the locusts having eaten up everything, and since that date locust plagues have been so numerous it is not difficult to accept the earlier tales as true.

Flint Stone Butter.

[New York Sun.]

A Washington market butter-dealer thoughtfully patted a big roll of oleomargarine that lay beneath a sign reading: "Best Chautauqua Butter," yesterday, and then said:

"We do things better than our fathers. They had to mix flint stones with their butter in order to make a living."

"One stone to the roll?" asked a young man.

"No; about pound for pound. They treated the stones to a chemical bath, reducing them to a tasteless sort of a white gelatine, which, when properly colored, salted and flavored with the proper amount of old-style up-country butter, sold as a job lot at a cent or two less per pound than the flavoring matter. But it was too expensive. Why, it would cost as much as 18 cents a pound to make it now, and could not be sold for more than 22 or 24, while this—but, as I said, we do things much better than our fathers did then, much better.

Loading" F. S. for the Scales.

[Lewiston, (Me.) Journal.]

One day, when a member of our party had landed an unusually large fish, our guide suggested that we put a lot of lead inside of him. "Load him so he'll weigh more," said he. "That's the way all of 'em do." The owner of the fish spurned this proposition. An amusing happening occurred when the big fish was displayed on the piazza and duly weighed before the congregation. A gray-haired spectator coolly felt of the fish's belly to see if there might be anything inside of him that did not belong there. I have less confidence in big fish stories than I had before this little scene.

Osage Orange Timber.

[Chicago Times.]

The osage orange is said to be the most durable timber that grows in America and the shrinkages and swellings caused by heat and moisture so slight as to be imperceptible. Wagons made of this material are very durable, the wheels, it is said, lasting for fifty years without paint or shelter.

The Part He Played.

[St. Paul Globe.]

It was nearly midnight, and poor Matilda was sleepy. When every subject seemed to her to be exhausted he changed his position and branched off again into a homily on the national game.

"And what part do you play, Mr. Dewdrop?" asked Matilda, with a yawn.

"Short stop," replied Dewdrop, proudly.

"Ah! You're not playing now, are you?"

He tumbled, and went out on the fly.

A Curious Specimen.

The Jewish Messenger says that to the curious specimen of prayer lately published may be added this of a modern rabbi: "O, Lord, thou remembrest we are but men.

Advertising Cheats!!!

"It has become so common to begin an article, in an elegant, interesting style,

"Then run it into some advertisement that we avoid all such,

"The Remedy so favorably noticed in all the papers,

Did She Die?

"No!

"She lingered and suffered along, pining away all the time for years,

"The doctors doing her no good;"

"And at last was cured by this Hop Bitters the papers say so much about;"

"Indeed! Indeed!"

"How thankful we should be for that medicine."

A Daughter's Misery.

"Eleven years our daughter suffered on a bed of misery.

"From a complication of kidney, liver, rheumatic troubles and Nervous debility.

"Under the care of the best physicians.

"Who gave her disease various names.

"But no relief.

"And now she is restored to us in good health by as simple a remedy as Hop Bitters, that we had shunned for years before using it."—The Parents.

—Horace Dunbury, a Portland artist, is preparing for a trip to Victoria, where he may make arrangements to reside permanently. He is a worthy and painstaking artist, but has been undeservingly unfortunate during his residence in Portland.

—Capt. Pittendrigh, Provincial Inspector of Fisheries, and Mr. Thomas Mowat, Superintendent of the hatchery, are exploring Burrard Inlet for lobsters and black cod, which they believe will be found in those waters. Messrs. Boie and Coulthard went with the party, probably to prove that there was no cod about the expedition. Traps have been prepared to catch the lobster.

—Yesterday being the anniversary services of the Pandora street Presbyterian church, there was a large turn out at both diets of worship. The pastor, the Rev. D. Fraser, occupied the pulpit in the morning. He preached an able eloquent sermon which was attentively listened to. A special collection was taken up which was liberally responded to. This congregation is in a highly flourishing condition. It will be necessary to enlarge the sitting accommodation ere long.

—In reply to Messrs. Baker and Shakespeare, the under secretary of state telegraphed that the "Chinese Restriction Act will be carried out through the customs department." But he did not state, as he should have done, when it was proposed to carry it out. The government, it is unfortunately too apparent, has shown a great disinclination of duty in failing to have their arrangements perfected for the enforcement of an act that is now, according to its provisions, a law of the land.

Anniversary Services.

The anniversary services in the First Presbyterian church, yesterday, were well attended. The pastor, Rev. D. Fraser, officiated in the morning. After devotional exercises, in which special reference was made to the circumstances in which the congregation were assembled and to God's goodness during the past year. The sermon was preached from I Sam 7:12. "Then Samuel took a stone and set it between Mizpeh and Shen, and called the name of it Ebenezer; saying hitherto hath the Lord helped us." The following is a brief synopsis of the able discourse: When men renounce their allegiance to God, they expect to obtain freedom, instead of that they run into trouble and bondage. Such is the experience of sinners to-day; such was the uniform experience of Israel in days of old. On the occasion referred to in the text Israel, on account of their idolatry, had for over twenty years been groaning under Philistine oppression, and could obtain deliverance only by returning to the God whom they had forsaken. Two points were dwelt upon; 1st God's help, 2nd The Ebenezer of help. 1.—God's Help. First as to its conditions as illustrated in the narrative, viz.: forsaking our besetting sins, humble confession, prayer and sacrifice, second as to its character. It is gracious and effectual. God's heart is revealed in it as well as his hand. It is continual. "Hitherto hath the Lord helped us." 2.—The memorial or stone of help. Men in all ages have been accustomed to set up memorials of important events. God's gracious help is especially worthy of being remembered. (1) It is due to the Most High that we should gratefully remember His favors. (2) The thought that God's help is essential to our happiness tends to keep us humble, we need his helping hand to-day as much as ever we did. (3) The remembrance of Divine help strengthens faith. "Hitherto hath the Lord helped us." He will help us to the end. During the past year God has helped us as individuals and as a congregation let us gratefully remember his kindness and let us with increased faith and renewed zeal and consecration devote ourselves to His service.

IN THE EVENING,

The Rev. John Reid, a former pastor of the congregation, occupied the pulpit. Mr. Reid has been absent from the city about 4 years, during which time he had charge of a congregation near Manchester, England. Lately he had been severely afflicted with sickness, so that his present health is somewhat enfeebled. Yet he preached a most eloquent and instructive discourse from Acts 1st and 11th,—"The same Jesus." The church was full to overflowing and the sermon listened to throughout with marked attention. Mr. Reid is of a type of pulpit orators that always will command attention, for there is an earnestness and a sincerity in his demeanour which at once attracts and rivets attention. Having great command of language, and a voice he keeps under perfect control, he becomes at once a general favorite. We are pleased to know that it is Mr. Reid's intention to locate permanently in this province, and that our people will be permitted to listen to his discourses on future occasions.

The Similkameen Mines.

From seventy to eighty white men are now located on Granite creek. They are putting in wing dams to work bed of creek for a distance of four miles from mouth, the upper three of which is a narrow canyon. Timber is plentiful, provisions cheap. Sugar 10c, tea 75c, flour $6.50, bacon 30c, other goods in proportion. White labor $3 per day, Chinamen $2, and board themselves. Lumber scarce, 7c per foot being offered. The gold is coarse and of good quality, valued at $17.50 per oz.; largest nugget found $7.50. One claim washed up at noon and realized $25 for two men with rocker. Chinamen purchasing claims from $170 to $760. Government should clear trails of windfalls, etc., for pack trains, as there will be a good market for farmers' produce on the creek; three beeves a week killed by Allison, and delivered for 8c.

The Murder at Keefe's Ranch.

The Sentinel brings fuller details about the last murder in the interior. There is a place known as Keefe's Ranch, twenty miles beyond Farwell. Two Swedes had been drinking at the place stated and one took a bunch of cigars and stuck into his shirt front. This caused the bartender, Wm. Malott, a young man, to get angry and he took down a rifle and threatened to shoot the drunken man. The other Swede interfered and the cigars were thrown down, but this did not satisfy the bartender, who fired and a ball went in the side of the offending Swede, and passed to his back, causing death. Malott was arrested and brought before M. G. Sproat, Esq., who held him for murder. Officer Kirkup brought down the prisoner and he was taken to New Westminster for safe keeping.

Seattle and Tacoma Side Tracked.

Port Townsend Argus: The real question to be determined is to get the tea cargoes on the cars as expeditiously as possible. The delay consequent upon the towage either to Portland or Tacoma can only be obviated by extending the railway from Portland to Port Townsend bay. The Canadian Pacific railroad is what really troubles Portland. To fight that road successfully, our railroad builders must come to Port Townsend. The Argus has already said that the contest for the Asiatic trade will be between Victoria and Port Townsend, and every day brings evidence that such will be the result.

The Prey of Sharks.

The steamer Mariposa, which arrived from Honolulu, Sandwich Islands, at San Francisco on Saturday, brings news that the schooner Popoiki, during a sudden squall, capsized off the coast of the Hawaiian Islands. All on board were thrown into the water. Two of the crew managed to get a boat, which the vessel was towing astern, and rescued two other sailors, but the captain and his wife and child and two other members of the crew were attacked by sharks and drawn under the water before the rescuers were able to reach them. No names could be learned.

A Chinese Riot.

On the 12th inst., a row occurred on Mitchell's contract, 80 miles east of Kamloops. Frank Edwards, was working a gang of Chinamen, and while showing one of them how to hold a drill, an altercation took place which finally led to an assault on Edwards, in which his arm was broken. He would have been killed outright, had not a number of white men came to his rescue. Half a dozen arrests were made, and six Chinamen were held for trial. They are now in the Kamloops gaol.

The Fatal Affray at Eagle Pass.

The fatal affray reported at Eagle Pass was between some Swedes, who had a small contract upon the railway. One of them kept a drinking place, and the partners getting into a quarrel on the 12th inst., Louis Wallerstead got badly kicked in the stomach. He lived four days, and in the meantime the assailants disappeared. Com. C. Todd held an inquest and took the evidence. No arrests as yet.

J. Dascanville & Co., Fort Street, Jewellers, have just received a large assortment of Mexican Filigree Jewelry. This invoice will be sold at reduced rates.

The Regulation Act Ultra Vires.

Hon. Justice Crease delivered judgment on Saturday on the Chinese Regulation Act, quashing the conviction by the magistrate and declaring the act unconstitutional. It was the general opinion of the bar, as well as of laymen qualified to judge, that no other result could be arrived at. The decision, however, is directly opposed to the publicly expressed views of several prominent legal politicians of the city, who staked their reputations on the validity of the government's legislation. Their law was either seriously at fault or they were giving the public a little "taffy;" either dilemma is an ignoble one. The fact that the act is ultra vires is unfortunate; but in view of the early enforcement of the Dominion Restriction Act—if the tricksters in Ottawa are not playing a procrastinating game, like their clumsy imitators in Victoria—the result will not be so detrimental to the province as it otherwise would have been.

$1000 Reward.

One thousand dollars reward is offered for the recovery of the body of Dr. Richard C. Brandeis, dead or alive. His age is 34 years, 5 ft. 7½ inches in height, slim built, black hair and scant mustache, dark complexion (sallow), dark-brown eyes, sickly appearance, long prominent nose. Wore a hunting case Waltham gold watch, No. 6801, 18 ct., sickle movement, E. T., with a wedding ring engraved inside, Aug. 23, 1881, also a peculiar signet ring. A photograph of the doctor may be seen at the U. S. Consulate in this city, and if he is in this city, or province, there is a good chance for some person to make one thousand dollars.

Must be Vaccinated.

The Montreal boot and shoe manufacturers, in view of the spread of small-pox, have agreed not to employ or retain in their employ any unvaccinated man. Most of the large manufacturers in other lines are also taking precautions against the disease.

All it is Worth.

The wrecked bark Haddingtonshire was sold at auction on Friday in the Merchants' Exchange, San Francisco, to Paul Keyser, commission merchant, for $80. The sale was by authority of the board of underwriters. There were few bidders. The sale was started at $25.

A Word From the Bishop.

The Bishop of London issued, to be read in the churches of his diocese yesterday, a stirring pastoral on the protection of young girls.
